

BLACK COUNTRY CREATIVES ...

Wolverhampton Reflections

By Alex Brew

Amberley Publishing have announced the publication of Alex Brew's 'collection of merged historic and modern images that reflect the changes in Wolverhampton through the decades.'

Alex, a curator of the Tettenhall Transport Heritage Centre in Wolverhampton, and a writer for the Wolverhampton Chronical, has put together a collection containing a variety of fascinating and nostalgic images which show the changing face of Wolverhampton over several decades. Matching each of an astounding 180 recent images with a sepia archive scene, the effect is of a split-image allowing readers to see how buildings, streets and everyday life have transformed and changed with the passing of time.

This is part of an exciting new local history series from Amberley Publishing and is an ingenious reflection of Wolverhampton as we know it, linked to its past.

Get your copy here:

<https://www.amberley-books.com/discover-books/amberley-series/local-history-series/reflections-series/wolverhampton-reflections.html>

